Subject: Re: Haltetafel / stop post
Posted by Christian Rahmig on Mon, 03 Dec 2012 17:59:51 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Dear Susanne,

Am 02.12.2012 22:22, schrieb Susanne Wunsch:
> Christian Rahmig <coord@infrastructure.railml.org> writes:
>
>> just for completeness I want to mention that a stop post can refer to >> several signals by using the sequence of "signalRef" objects >> (cp. [2]).
>
> What is the 'sequence' attribute used for?
>
> It's needed that a stop post may refer to several signals, as Carsten > mentioned at the railML-conference in Zurich. But I don't understand the > use case where these referred signals have any 'sequence' relation to the > stop post.

The sequence is not needed. With the latest commit towards Trac ticket #167 I changed the type of the <signalRef> element to tElementWithReference leaving out the sequence (cp. [3]).

>> [2] https://trac.assembla.com/railML/ticket/167#comment:16
[3] https://trac.assembla.com/railML/ticket/167#comment:20

Regards

--
Christian Rahmig
railML.infrastructure coordinator