Dear RailML-colleagues, may I remember that the next RailML-meeting will be held Friday, 22.09.2006 in Berlin (Germany), invited by Deutsche Bahn, DB Systems GmbH.

We will open the session at 9.00 o' clock in the conference room 4164 of DB Systems in 12623 Berlin, Florastrasse 133-136 (train "S-Bahn" to Mahlsdorf). You will find a map for travelling to DB Systems via http://www.railml.org/de/public/10thmeetingberlin.html. Our colleagues of DB Systems will also provide a visit of the central computing centre of German Railways ("Cockpit"), where 15 participiants can take part (app. 15.00 o' clock; registration will be possible during the conference) after the RailML-conference).

The conference language will be German and English (if required) and participation is free (you must advise via webform at www.railml.org / http://www.railml.org/en/public/conferences.html; latest 20.09.2006 evening).

You are invited to present your developments for, from or with RailML, please contact me in this case via coordination@railml.org.

Best regards,
